

What is claimed is:

1. A receive section for wireless headphones for receiving sound signal data transmitted in wireless manner, the receive section comprising a bush which is configured to house a plug of the headphones.
2. A receive section according to Claim 1, wherein the bush is designed to receive a commercially available plug of headphones.
3. A receive section according to Claim 1, wherein the receive section contains a battery which is accommodated together with the receive electronics in a housing.
4. A receive section according to Claim 1, wherein the housing has a lapel clip on its outer side.
5. A receive section according to Claim 1, wherein an amplifier is also accommodated in the housing with the receive electronics and means for adjusting the reproduction and volume are constructed on the outside on the housing.
6. Headphones having a receive section according to claim 1.
7. Headphones having a receive section according to claim 2.
8. Headphones having a receive section according to claim 3.
9. Headphones having a receive section according to claim 4.
10. Headphones having a receive section according to claim 5.